About the conference:

- Join us as we learn strategies to inspire pupils to be guardians of the environment, advocates for personal well-being, and champions against bullying and anti-social behaviour
- Gain practical tools to instil resilience, empathy and a proactive mindset
- Elevate your teaching with actionable insights and be part of creating a school culture where every student becomes a positive force for change
- Breakout sessions for you to choose from so you can tailor the conference to your interests
- Light bites and refreshments will be included mid-afternoon.

Cost: Free to schools that have bought back any of our packages (buy back schools get 2 free tickets).

All other schools pay £87, however we have 20 early bird tickets for £50 if you purchase your ticket by 22 February. You don't need to pay anything now. Your schools will be invoiced after the event.

On the day:

We have some really exciting speakers presenting at our conference, along with some students and teachers. The speakers will be revealed nearer the date.

Doors open at 12 noon - please come along between 12 and 1pm to register, grab some refreshments and talk to stall holders.
