A full day opportunity to meet and network with colleagues and experienced facilitators in a wide range of topic areas that are key to the role of the school business manager.

School business management - Working in partnership to achieve success together

For 2019 we have a new venue but the same fantastic line up for the day to offer you the opportunity to network with colleagues and also to meet a variety of expert speakers and carefully selected exhibitors.

Confirmed speakers

Kaley Foran - a lead editor from The Key for school leaders will explore with school business managers: SBMs - your next steps in light of Ofsted's new framework

Julia Harnden - Association of School College and Leaders (ASCL) – Financial resilience – the nuts and bolts. Julia is a funding specialist and has worked for HSBC's corporate banking division before moving to the education sector. Developing a working knowledge of education funding since 2001, Julia has supported school leaders in both the primary and secondary phase. Funding is key to achieving your vision but requires a down-to-earth understanding of what the budget looks like now, and what it might look like in the next three to five years?

Ross McWilliam – Staff Wellbeing. This is fast becoming this year's hottest topic – of both pupils and staff. If we fail to take care of ourselves, how can we assist and develop others? At today's Conference, Ross will address delegates on the issue of staff wellbeing. Ross will identify stress flashpoints, offer a measurement tool to quantify current stress levels and provide short- and long-term strategies to improve wellbeing.

The Real David Cameron – Motivational speaker. David has had a long career in the world of education both nationally and internationally. He states that "the Difference that I want to make is to ensure that all young people have an education that brings richness to their lives".
