Primary schools ELP core entitlement

School improvement support, delivered as part of the ELP core. Every ELP school will receive school improvement and wider support and challenge in conjunction with the vision and guarantee set out by the ELP board.

Cluster groups and peer reviews

All ELP schools are invited to join a cluster. The clusters operate in a climate of trust and respect to support schools to be sustainably good or better. The current peer learning model will undergo further development in the light of learning from the first year. ELP clusters will continue to operate around the principle of 'high challenge-low threat'. Headteachers will have termly structured opportunities to review their priorities alongside colleagues to support each other in finding solutions and to use their cluster facilitator to work on behalf of their collective interests.

Special schools

Special schools are working to develop a Joint Practice Review model. This involves pairs of schools undertaking a review of each other led by a link partner. A day of sharing the collective finding of the reviews supports the sharing of effective practice and the opportunity for thinking and reflecting together on how challenges might be met. Professional development will be commissioned to address shared priorities and to underpin the joint practice development

Assessment and moderation

ELP members will have:

- Access to high quality training for securing judgement in assessment across year groups and subjects
- Opportunity to train as external moderator/lead moderator
- Briefing meetings/papers on new developments, standards and expectations
- Expert support for cluster based moderation exercises in statutory and non-statutory years
- Exemplification and planning materials for use in school
- Support for ongoing professional dialogue across schools

Support for schools at times of need

In addition to the above, schools experiencing significant challenges will receive support in brokering tailored packages from across the partnership. The Securing Good Programme for schools with significant risks is set out in a separate section and in conjunction with the council's statutory duties.
