

Scenario Cards

I went up a reading level!

Someone just nudged me and now my painting is ruined.

A person who I know is a bully is walking towards me in the corridor.

I have to read a poem in my class assembly and the whole school will be watching.

I am not allowed to play until I have tidied my room.

My best friend has been picked to be the main part in the school play. I had been hoping they might pick me.

The school holidays begin tomorrow!

I lost my favourite toy in the playground. I think someone may have stolen it.

Someone in my class is having a big, exciting birthday party. I am not invited.

My best friend has made another friend. They play together at playtime and don't want me to join in.

I tried really hard but still got lots of spellings wrong in my test.

My friend told me they are moving to another school.