'Include Me' Picture Competition

In March 2023, we asked children and young people in Ealing to design a poster to be about their views as a child or young person with the theme:

What does include me look or feel like?

The deadline for entries was the 25 April 2023.

We are delighted that so many children and young people in the borough responded to the challenge.

The slides contain the images received.

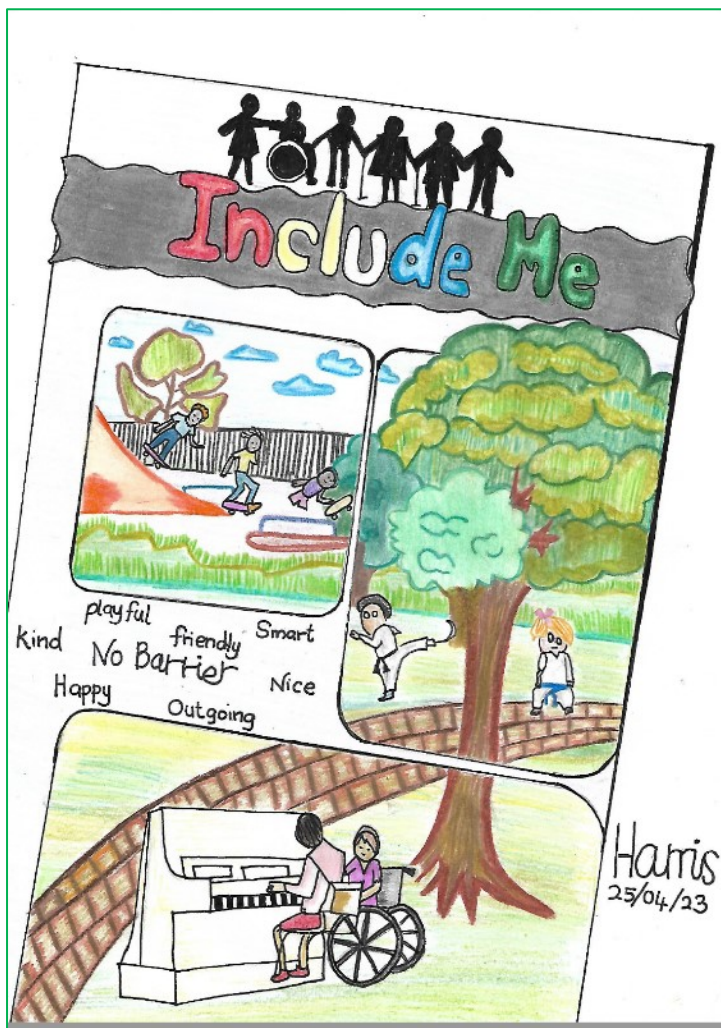

The images will be shared as posters in local buildings, and in exhibitions around the borough and on social media channels to raise awareness about children and young people with additional needs, SEND and inclusion.

Take note.

The following poster will be about inclusion as a topic in general. More information will be discussed in further detail. The examples used will be explained later on.

DISABILITY

- If you have a type of disability, it can be hard to do some things that others can. This can make you feel like you aren't being included. This is why we have things like the disability lift on buses and buildings.

GIRLS FOOTBALL

GIRLS FOOTBALL

- Many people may think that girls of women can't play football or are bad at it or even not allowed to play. This is an example of discrimination towards women and girls, who can make them feel or experience loneliness. Luckily, there are some

- #12 people and places that accept the fact that ladies are in reality allowed to participate in this sport and have the potential and skill to even win and become a professional player in a real team. This still occurs in the modern era, but there are less chances.

RACISM

RACISM

- Immigrants, Asian or African people may get discriminated by others in a way about their skin colour sometimes. This is known as racism. Racism can be mentally harmful to people and could destroy their pride or confidence.

- #12 This can cause anxiety or loneliness to be experienced, which can hurt someone's ego or social skills. However, we do have societies like the NHS to help getting the fear of this trauma disappear from one's mind and soul.
